THE SAATI
COLLECTION
Architecture making time

Hora

From London to Azerbaijan.

Saatı began as a bespoke clock for the Azerbaijani corporate offices of a petrochemical company. Its name means 'the clock' in Azerbaijani.

The dial carries echoes of the celebrated clock at St Pancras Station in London, reinterpreted as an individual Hora Tempus design for a new setting and purpose.

Hora
TEMPUS

Classic form. Bespoke detail.

A restrained ivory clock dial and black Roman chapters provide exceptional clarity. Around them, the gold leaf decorative border introduces craft, depth and a distinctive, classic sense of occasion.

DIAL 1400mm diameter

Ornament, through skill and tradition.

The decorative border is more than an embellishment. Its repeating scrollwork gives the circular dial rhythm and frames the clear Roman chapter ring.

Careful preparation and gilded finishing bring light to the raised detail, contrasting with the black surround.

A design made for its setting.

Saatı is offered as a made to order collection. Scale, construction, mechanism and mounting are developed for the intended interior, allowing the clock to become part of the architecture rather than an addition to it.

SEASONAL TIME CHANGE

Designed for architectural presence.

Saatı was conceived for a corporate reception, where a clock must be clearly legible while carrying the visual authority of the surrounding interior.

Its balanced dial, gilded border and generous scale suit reception spaces, boardrooms, hospitality settings and significant private interiors.

CAST | GILDED | ARCHITECTURAL

A numbered work.

Every numbered Saatı Collection clock is accompanied by a certificate of authenticity and a discreet engraved brass plaque.

Together they record the design, finish, serial or edition number, date of completion and the people responsible for the piece.

The clock is protected in a purpose made foam lined wooden crate, ready for delivery to its new setting.
