THE SLATE COLLECTION

Formed by nature. Finished by hand

No two surfaces are quite alike.

Cut from 20 mm natural riven slate, every dial carries the subtle variation, texture and character of the stone from which it was made.

Against this dark, quietly irregular surface, the gilded chapters catch the light beautifully.

The result feels established rather than manufactured, with a presence suited to both traditional and contemporary interiors.

Stone Castings Gold

Three honest materials, brought together as a single architectural piece.

DIAL 1000mm diameter

Made by hand and and machine.

The Roman chapters are cast before being prepared and gilded in 23½ carat gold leaf. Their raised form gives the dial depth, shadow and a warmth that printed decoration cannot reproduce.

The forged metal hands are finished in black, creating a strong, legible contrast against both the slate and gold.

Substance behind the face.

The generous scale and material weight give the Slate clock genuine architectural presence. Its mechanism is selected to drive the substantial forged hands reliability.

SEASONAL TIME CHANGE

Old materials. A new setting.

The medieval influence is deliberate, but the clock is not confined to a period interior.

Its simple geometry, natural surface and restrained palette allow it to sit confidently in homes, restaurants, hotels and distinctive workspaces.

NATURAL | TACTILE | INDIVIDUAL

A numbered work.

Every numbered Slate Collection clock is accompanied by a certificate of authenticity and a discreet engraved brass plaque.

Together they record the design, finish, serial or edition number, date of completion and the people responsible for the piece.

The clock is protected in a purpose made foam lined wooden crate, ready for delivery to its new setting.
